Sounding Better!

Hannah Marshburn Joins HYPACK

By Lourdes Evans

HYPACK is pleased to announce that Hannah Marshburn has joined our HYPACK Sales Team.

Hannah brings extensive knowledge and experience in multibeam and LIDAR surveying. Hannah previously worked as a Senior Hydrographic Survey Technician, NOAA Ship Fairweather where she operated and integrated multibeam and side scan sonars, and LIDAR acquisition systems on hydrographic vessels.

Hannah has several years of experience integrating hydrographic systems and managing hydrographic surveys with multibeam, side scan, and LiDAR data for NOAA. Prior to hydrography, she worked a watershed restoration technician and with a water treatment company.

Hannah holds a Master's degree in Applied Geosciences from the University of Washington and a Bachelors in the Marine Geology and Geophysics University of Miami.

We are very excited to have Hannah join HYPACK!

Welcome to our Team!
