Sounding Better!

News from Around the World

By Boris Schulze

Looking outside my window, I realize that another summer has past and, as always, it was way too short. Time to look back at the summer (and not my holidays):

I visited the Hydrographic Day in Bremen, organized by the German Hydrographic Society. Every year the hydrographic community from Germany and surrounding countries meet during this event. The two days are packed with high-class presentations and a very interesting network dinner.

In late summer, we started again with seminars and I travelled to Cape Town in September for our annual one. We had 38 participants at the Royal Cape Yacht Club from South Africa. It was good to listen to our users and I came back with quite a few new ideas from them for the upcoming HYPACK® releases.

Back to Europe! We exhibited at the Baltexpo in Gdansk, Poland with our reseller Marine Technology. He was awarded “Best Product” with the Hydrodon, an ASV running HYPACK®

The journey continued to Dubai, where I participated in a 3-day Xylem Analytics workshop giving users and others interested in hydrographical sensors, instruments, Aids to Navigation and HYPACK® a deeper understanding of the modern technologies used in the Ocean & Coastal environment.

We had more than 70 people from the Middle East region attending this first event ever!

Stay tuned!
